

Section 1: Introduction & Consent

Thank you for participating in the Bright Line Watch survey of political scientists. The purpose of this survey is to measure expert opinions about the state of American democracy.

Your responses will be anonymous. Your participation in this study is voluntary, and you are free to skip any questions or withdraw from the study at any time. No information that identifies you will be collected or retained by the researchers, and all of the information we collect will be stored securely. However, any online interaction carries some risk of being accessed. Please contact the Social & Behavioral Sciences IRB at the University of Chicago with any questions or concerns (by phone at 773-834-7835 or by email at sbs-irb@uchicago.edu).

If you have any questions or comments about this survey, or if you would like to be removed from the mailing list for future surveys, please email survey@brightlinewatch.org.

On the next several screens you will see a series of statements related to democratic government.

The questions will ask you to evaluate how well various democratic principles or values are being upheld in practice in the United States.

Nine statements have been randomly selected from a set of 30 (the full list will be available at the end of the survey).

Please click the arrow to continue to the next screen.

On the following screens you will see a list of 8 recent events that have taken place since our last expert survey (randomly selected from a list of 29 events; the full list will be available at the end of the survey). We ask that you please rate these events using the following two scales.

Normal or Abnormal, where 1 is business as usual for a presidential administration, like vetoing a bill or appointing a cabinet, and 5 is highly unusual for American democracy, like Iran-Contra or ordering newspapers to halt the publication of the Pentagon Papers.

Unimportant or Important, where 1 has limited or no consequences for the federal government, like the first family's pets or the menu for a state dinner, and 5 creates a significant or lasting change, like the establishment of Social Security or the Voting Rights Act.

We also welcome any comments you may have that explain your evaluation.

Section 8: Nightmares

The goal of this portion of the survey is to understand how respondents assess the likelihood of some events that could occur in the coming weeks and months. We will ask you to assess the chances that each one will occur. For example, we might ask you “what are the chances that a faithless elector decides who wins the presidency?”

We ask you to provide your answers using numeric percentages. If you think the scenario will occur with near certainty, then you would give an answer close to 100%. If you think there is only a remote chance that the scenario will occur, then you would give an answer close to 0%, and if you think the scenario is as likely to occur as not to occur, then you would give an answer close to 50%.

Section 9: Threats

In this section of the survey, we ask you to assess the following events and indicate the extent of threat they pose (if any) to the quality and stability of American democracy.

	No threat to democracy	Little threat to democracy	Moderate threat to democracy	Serious threat to democracy	Grave threat to democracy
